

JECRCTM
UNIVERSITY
BUILD YOUR WORLD

School of Humanities and Social Sciences
Department of English
B.Tech. - IV Semester
Subject: Life Skills (Project)

Unit-I Lab Activity -2 (Addressing the Public)

Topic- (managing Stress and Emotions)

Managing stress and emotions can be quite a challenge in our day-to-day lives. It seems like there's always something that triggers a rush of intense feelings, whether it's work pressure, relationship issues, or simply the chaos of everyday life. One effective strategy to manage stress and emotions is to practice mindfulness. By focusing on the present moment, acknowledging your feelings without judgment, and turning your attention to your breath or senses, you can gain a sense of calm and clarity. Additionally, engaging in regular physical exercise can have tremendous benefits for managing stress and regulating emotions. Exercise releases endorphins, the feel-good hormones that help boost mood and reduce anxiety levels. Lastly, seeking support from loved ones or professional therapists is crucial when dealing with overwhelming stressors or difficult emotions. Opening up about your concerns allows you to gain new perspectives and receive valuable guidance on how to cope effectively with stress and navigate through challenging emotional situations.

Questions:-

1. What are some common signs of stress?

- Physical: headaches, fatigue, muscle tension, changes in appetite or sleep.
- Emotional: irritability, anxiety, low mood, difficulty concentrating.

2. What are some relaxation techniques I can try?

- Deep breathing, meditation, progressive muscle relaxation, yoga, mindfulness exercises.

3. How can a healthy lifestyle help manage stress?

- Regular exercise, balanced diet, and adequate sleep improve physical and mental resilience.

4. What is cognitive restructuring, and how does it work?

- Challenging negative thought patterns and replacing them with more realistic and positive ones.

5. How can time management help reduce stress?

- Prioritizing tasks, setting realistic goals, and delegating help prevent feeling overwhelmed.

6. Why is social support important for managing stress?

- Connecting with loved ones provides emotional comfort, practical help, and a sense of belonging.

7. When should I consider seeking professional help for stress?

- If stress feels overwhelming, impacts daily functioning, or persists despite self-help efforts.

8. What are some additional resources for managing stress?

- Mental health organizations, online resources, stress management apps, and hotlines.

9. What are some personal tips you have for managing stress?

- Share your own experiences and strategies.

10. What are some creative ways to express and manage emotions?

- Art, music, writing, journaling, and spending time in nature.