

```
import java.util.Scanner;

public class FindSmallestElement {

    public static int findSmallest(int[] arr) {
        int min = arr[0]; // Assume first element is the smallest initially

        for (int i = 1; i < arr.length; i++) {
            if (arr[i] < min) {
                min = arr[i]; // Update the minimum if we find a smaller element
            }
        }

        return min;
    }

    public static void main(String[] args) {
        Scanner scanner = new Scanner(System.in);

        // Get the array size from the user
        System.out.println("Enter the size of the array: ");
        int size = scanner.nextInt();

        // Initialize the array
        int[] arr = new int[size];

        // Get elements from the user
        System.out.println("Enter the elements of the array: ");
        for (int i = 0; i < size; i++) {
            arr[i] = scanner.nextInt();
        }

        int smallestElement = findSmallest(arr);
        System.out.println("The smallest element in the array is: " + smallestElement);
    }
}
```